Compacting your quarantine records

When you delete an email, it will be queued for removal and it will still consume disk space for a short period of time. Compacting an email reduces the amount of disk space that is being used.

To compact your personal quarantine records perform one of the following options:

Option 1

- 1. Log in to FortiMail.
- 2. Expand the System Folders pane and then right-click Bulk.

Emptying your quarantine

When you empty your quarantine, all items in your quarantine will be removed.

To empty your personal quarantine perform one of the following options:

Option 1

To empty your personal quarantine:

- 1. Log in to FortiMail.
- 2. Expand the System Folders pane and then right-click Bulk.
- 3. Click Empty.

4. When prompted, click Yes.

Option 2

- 1. Log in to FortiMail.

Valid and invalid black list/white list entry formats

Acceptable input for black list and white list entries may include:

- Complete or partial IP addresses.
- Complete or partial domain names.
- Complete or partial email addresses.

Parts of domain names (i.e. pathcom.com) and parts of user names (i.e. user5) can use wildcards (? and *)

Here are some examples of valid black list and white list entries for clarification:

Example	Explanation
123.111.1	Email from the IP address 123.111.1
pathcom.com	Email from any sender at pathcom.com
username@pathcom.com	Email from the sender username@pathcom.com
?sales@pathcom.com	Email from any sender name ending in sales@pathcom.com
*@pathcom.com	Email from any sender at pathcom.com
username@pathcom.com Email from the sender username at domains like pathcon.c pathcol.com, pathcop.com (The ? wildcard allows you to whitelist or blacklist misspelled domains)
username@*.com	Email from the sender username at any .com domain.

The following are unacceptable formats:

- 123.11.1.1
- 123.11.1.1/11
- @spam. example.com

Configuring your black lists

From Preferences you can add, modify, delete, backup, and restore personal black lists.

Adding an entry to your black list

Black listing is when emails from certain email addresses, domains, or IPs are blocked.
